Write index.html to retrieve the name of the user. Set the method attribute of the form to "get" to generate GET request to the server. Write a PHP script to display welcome message along with the name when the submit button is clicked.